Aims and Principle

The behaviour culture within our schools strives to reinforce with positivity and celebrate behaviour within a context that is appropriate to our pupils. We aim to promote a classroom culture that enables children to succeed in all aspects of their school day and seek to celebrate children's achievements, both academically and personally.

The Trust aims are to ensure our schools offer:

- Care for all through teaching dignity, respect, empathy and is person-centred.
- Ensure safety for all through promoting self-worth, protection to rights and minimising risk and harm. Treating all children fairly and based on individual needs.
- Maintain the welfare of our families through developing independence, supporting choice, and recognising the importance of a child's well-being and positive mental health, whilst actively teaching positive directions to take.
- Security, knowing that our children are happy, safe, harmonious and collaborate to build strong relationships. Children have chances to rectify and learn from mistakes so that their future benefits.
- Foster key values that allow children to be Ready, Respectful and Safe in all situations and understand the expectations during these times.
- Equip children with skills to resolve issues through resilience and determination to succeed.

Values and Rewards

The children are all ambassadors for their own behaviour. Our values underpin the fundamental skills that will ensure that all children leave our provision prepared for later life and succeed in the world around them.

We teach our children through assemblies and our curriculum - including social situations - our school's expectations of Ready, Respectful and Safe. Establishing clear and consistent routines are paramount for pupils to feel safe in school. In addition to the expectations, we actively promote our school values of lwade have developed an ethos that seeks to celebrate children who demonstrate our values well, are role models to others and who uphold our values in all situations.

Steps to support – managing consequences

We follow 4 steps of support for all our children, with each step ensuring that children have their needs met and effective strategies are used to reinforce positive behaviour and managing consequences.

Step 1- Quality First Provision; actively celebrating children's achievement, establishing clear and consistent classroom expectations that are maintained, good communication with parents, the use of rewards and recognition to boost a child's emotional currency, clear routines and structure to a day, intervention for support if needed. Where children do not respond to this and show concerning low level behaviour, we lead to the next step.

Step 2- Whilst the support from step 1 is in place, a child will then be raised at a 'Team around a child' meeting to discuss their behaviours in more detail. At this point adaptations to their learning will be made, adaptations to their structure will be put in place with immediate effect. This may be in the form of a 'pupil passport' which will be shared with the parent.

Step 3- If a child's behaviour escalates further, they will be placed on an 'individual behaviour support plan', alternative provision within their class will be made and a strike system will be in place. When a pupil reaches three strikes this the child will receive an internal exclusion and will learn away from their class.

Step 4- Where we see a severe escalation of behaviour and/or have seen a repetition of long-term negative behaviour, the decision will be made to either internally exclude or move to an external suspension whereby the pupil will be required to learn away from the school site.

Positive behaviour principles

These principles are shaped through consultation with parents, staff, and children about behaviour in our Trust, alongside educational research, and practice from local schools.

The behaviour culture within our schools strives to reinforce with positivity and celebrate behaviour within a context that is appropriate to our pupils. We aim to promote a classroom culture that enables children to succeed in all aspects of their school day and seek to celebrate children's achievements, both academically and personally.

The Trust aims are to ensure our schools offer:

- Care for all through teaching dignity, respect, empathy and is person- centred.
- Ensure safety for all through promoting self-worth, protection to rights and minimising risk and harm. Treating all children fairly and based on individual needs.
- Maintain the welfare of our families through developing independence, supporting choice, and recognising the importance of a child's well- being and positive mental health, whilst actively teaching positive directions to take.
- Security, knowing that our children are happy, safe, harmonious and collaborate to build strong relationships. Children have chances to rectify and learn from mistakes so that their future benefits.
- Foster key values that allow children to be Ready, Respectful and Safe in all situations and understand the expectations during these times.
- Equip children with skills to resolve issues through resilience and determination to succeed.

This philosophy requires our school community to work together, getting to know our families and developing a partnership that puts children at the centre. We will work hard to communicate how to support a child's learning and behavioural needs with our families. Good behaviour and achievements are not automatically learned, and these attributes need to be taught in unison from families and teachers. We know that positive behaviours must be modelled, explained, taught, supported, and recognised. We have high expectations of behaviour and will continue to develop children's understanding of the impact of choices they make, whether positive or negative. Everyone makes mistakes, in their learning and in their behaviour choices. These are opportunities to learn and grow.

Embedding these expectations for our children will support them in making positive behaviour choices, avoiding anti-social behaviours such as discrimination or bullying and support them within their wider experiences.

We recognise the barriers that some children face and adapt to meet their needs through this policy. We understand that all behaviour is a form of communication and it is the right of a child to express this. We know that some children need adaptations to the policy to meet their needs, so whilst the approach may vary to suit the child, we are consistent in how we approach children and what to expect of their behaviour daily. This is done through the following techniques in our school:

- Establishing a consistent and calm learning environment that offers children the chance to understand expectations safely, fairly and within their own understanding.
- Embed sustainable routines which reinforce positive ways to succeed and support a child's emotional well-being.
- First Attention to Best Conduct is used by all, modelling expected behaviours and teaching children how expectations look within a real context.
- Scripted interventions seek to offer a well-versed, tailor-made dialogue that allows children to be heard and valued
- Leading on to a restorative approach that is assertive, meaningful, and direct.

- To work in unison with the school, following the schools procedures and consequences.

At Iwade we start each day on a positive note through being a welcome face to children and parents/carers through meeting and greeting children in a calm manner, being present and starting every day is a clear mindset.

We promote positive behaviour and learning throughout the school. We use a positive behaviour management process by which a child's behaviour and learning is improved using reward, consequence and learning from collective experiences as they arise. We encourage our children to make good behaviour choices which are intrinsically motivated.

School Values

We teach our children the importance of being Inclusive, Welcoming, Aspirational, Diverse and Extraordinary as our school values, with respect being a keystone to our values. The children are all ambassadors for their own behaviour, and we as a school, offer the opportunities to build on our values daily. Our values underpin the fundamental skills that will ensure that all children leave our provision prepared for later life and succeed in the world around them. We have developed an ethos that seeks to celebrate children who demonstrate our values well, are role models to others and who uphold our values in all situations.

We recognise that our values are woven in everything we do. We teach our children how to be respectful and welcoming to others, as well as in their environment. We allow our children to build resilience through a broad, inclusive, and diverse curriculum as well as through wider opportunities. We celebrate our community's diversity. Staff seek to coach our pupils to be aspirational through challenge and recognising their strengths, successes, goals; allowing children opportunities to grow and maximise their potential. We allow our children to be responsible for their actions, achievements, and school.

Setting Expectations

Each class will have their own set of expectations, linked to the Trust ethos and school's values. These are pupil led, with appropriate guidance from the class teacher, so they are understood by all. These are displayed in each classroom and reviewed and taught regularly. Children understand that our expectations are positive, teach us how to be safe and allow us to then be ready for the day ahead. We enjoy recognising children who follow their class expectations, through outward displays of recognition, for all to see.

Rewards

We use a range of strategies to ensure children are noticed and recognised for their positive behaviour. These include:

- Class Dojos
- Positive telephone calls home/ notes
- Verbal praise
- Celebration assemblies

These strategies help children to build a positive association to school, enabling their emotions and sense of worth to be satisfied, allowing them to leave each day successful. A child's emotional currency matters, and we strive to ensure that all of our pupils feel that they have a team of people who care for them.

In our school we use Zones of Regulation The Zones of Regulation | A Curriculum For Emotional Regulation as an effective tool for supporting children to understand how they feel and manage their feelings. This method of self-identification, linked with calm and consistent classroom, allows all children to feel heard, nurtured and cared for throughout their time at school. Where children may need further assistance with their emotional regulation, additional services are provided through our pastoral care including play therapy, Talk Time or bespoke sessions. Zones of Regulation is not a behaviour strategy, but teaches children to recognise their emotional state and build strategies around these feelings.

Class Dojos support children under 3 main headings of Ready, Respect and Safe. When actively displaying these throughout the day they are rewarded with a dojo, which are shared with families. Children who are not meeting the expectations are given a reminder to achieve, redirection to a task is given or time to talk through barriers is offered. If a child then continues to show disrespect, are unsafe and or are not ready to learn they will receive a Nojo. This highlights that as a school we do not condone their actions and, with parent's support, will seek to put in place positive measures to ensure children move on and learn from these situations.

Class Dojos can be accessed by families through the Class Dojo App, acting as a positive tool to work in unison to support every child. This platform does not replace the importance of effectively communicating about your child's behaviour and is not a correspondence tool. It is designed to ensure children know that parents and families are working well with staff in school and are a team in championing a child's successes each day. The Dojo app is not used as a direct messaging tool and queries should be made via the correct and relevant methods including through Arbor or contacting the school office.

Dojos are an effective strategy in developing a child's emotional currency and reinforces the school's expectations. Reasonable adjustments for pupils with SEMH/ ADHD or another disability that can impact on behaviour will be in place and children will be included at all times.

Managing behaviour choices through Restorative Justice

If, a pupil continues to make poor behaviour choices they will be directed appropriately to reflect on their decisions, with the support of the community leads. After this period of reflection pupils will need to put things right in their own time. Pupils will be assisted by adults to recognise how their behaviour might affect others and for ways they could make things right. During this restorative conversation the child is encouraged to take responsibility for their behaviour. It is from here an appropriate action will be agreed to make things right and support the child to move on.

Occasionally incidents occur which are of a more serious nature. The child will be allowed to de-escalate from the situation and given the opportunity to calm down. When the child is ready to discuss the incident rationally, they will work with a member of staff to discuss a fair and suitable conclusion and consequence. Depending on the circumstances of the situation at the time and the needs of the child, they may need space to reflect, and this can be supported by our Family Liaison officer. Incidents of a more serious nature will be managed in school, by members of the SLT using a restorative justice approach that leads to appropriate consequences and support for those who need it.

Recording of behavioural incidents

We recognise that all children will make mistakes regarding their behaviour, and that this should not be held against them, nor does every incident need to be recorded if dealt with appropriately. However, if these behaviours become repeated or are out of character, it might be an indication that something else is happening in their lives either within or outside of school.

Therefore, if the same child has more than one incident in a week, shows repeated behaviour incidents over a period of time, or shows behaviours which are outside of their normal character, the adult who assisting will record them on CPOMS and they will be alerted to the Community Lead, Class Teacher and Family Liaison Officer.

Children with specific behavioural needs

We recognise that some children have specific needs with regards to their behaviour. For those identified SEMH (Social, Emotional, or Mental Health), or whose behaviour is as a direct result of SEND (Special Educational Needs and Disability), the system may be altered in consultation between the class teacher and the SEND team and adapted to meet their needs. Their Individualised Learning Plan (ILP) or Individualised Behaviour Support Plan (IBSP) will indicate the actions planned to address and support their needs.

Nurture and Individual Behaviour Support Plans

If a child’s behaviour is giving staff cause for concern, senior staff and/or SENCo may decide whether to implement a Nurture programme or an IBP depending on the individual child’s circumstances and needs. Parents will always be informed and work together to create a suitable plan for their child.

When on this plan, the child will be given 3 clear expectations that must be met. When these are not being adhered to, the child will be given a warning, opportunity to make the right choices. Where the unacceptable behaviour continues, the child will be issued with a strike. It is clear in the plan that 3 strikes then lead to an internal suspension for a fixed day. A member of SLT will then work alongside that child, building a clear understanding of what went wrong and how to move forward to resolve the unacceptable behaviour demonstrated.

Out of School Behaviour

With the support of our FLO (Family Liaison Officer) we will actively support parents if children are acting in an unsafe or irresponsible manner whilst not under our duty of care. The Trust is committed to ensuring our pupils act as positive ambassadors for our school within community.

We expect the following:

- Good order on all transport (including taxis) to and from school, educational visits or learning opportunities in other schools.
- Safe behaviour on the way to and from school.
- Positive behaviour which does not threaten the health, safety or welfare of our pupils, staff, volunteers, or members of the public.
- Reassurance to members of the public about school care and control over pupils to protect the reputation of the school.
- Protection for individual staff and pupils from harmful conduct by pupils of each school when not on the school site.
- Appropriate online and digital behaviours which are positive, safe, and mindful of others in line with the school expectations.

Outside Agencies

Any concerns about a child should always be discussed with the class teacher, who can then liaise with our Family Liaison Officer. It is at this time we can access wider support with external agencies. Any outside agency will require evidence and documentation, therefore the behaviours noted on CPOMs for that child will be collated and shared.

Confidentiality

We expect our parents and carers to be respectful of other families and trust that the school will be effectively liaising with all adults involved in the care of children, alongside any external agencies. These matters will remain confidential to the family and any agencies involved. We ask that parents and carers respect this and trust that these matters are dealt with confidentially on an individual basis.
